

Swallows and nests

You are with your friend during a break at school. A new child who is a migrant approaches trying to participate in the discussion but does not know either Greek or English. How do you react?

- You turn your back and ignore him/her
- You speak in English
- You walk away from him/her
- You feel awkwardly and remain silent

Swallows and nests

A refugee / migrant asks you to help him/her with some lessons by studying together. How do you react?

- You do not help him/her
- You kindly find an excuse not to help him/her
- You are afraid of him/her and do as he/she asks
- You help him/her as much as possible

Swallows and nests

A new pupil that does not speak your language very well comes to your class. Your teacher places him/her in a seat but the pupil already sitting there refuses to seat next to the newcomer. What do you do?

- You feel bad, yet you do not interfere
- You suggest to your teacher to let you sit with the new comer
- You agree with the other pupil
- You stay out of it, blessing your luck that the new comer was not seated next to you.

Swallows and nests

I am in the street and I see a stranger man removing the veil (head scarf) from a Muslim woman. Do I help her?

- Yes
- No

Swallows and nests

If you saw a racist violent incident against a refugee or a migrant child, how would you react?

- You would physically attack the racist
- You would defend the victim without using violence
- You would also participate in the attack
- You would walk away from the scene

Swallows and nests

It is your birthday and you have invited the whole class at your party. The problem is that there is a refugee in the classroom that some pupils dislike.

What do you do in this case?

- You invite him/her together with the whole class
- You do not invite him/her
- You are trying to explain to him/her why you cannot invite him/her
- You do not tell him/her you have a birthday party

Swallows and nests

During a lesson, a girl comes to the blackboard while some racist comments are heard in the classroom. The teacher does not respond. What should I do?

- I stay silent
- I support my classmates with the racist comments
- I support the girl
- I laugh at the comments

Swallows and nests

Outside a mosque some people are kneeling to worship their God. Some passers-by are laughing at them. What do I do?

- I continue with my walk
- I try to tell them to go away
- I laugh at them
- I attack them

Swallows and nests

A German goes to a Jewish coffee shop and the owner says, "I do not serve coffee to German people that have done so many atrocities to us». Do you agree with the owner's answer?

- Yes
- No

Swallows and nests

You would defend the victim without using violence

S & N

[Redacted area]

Swallows and nests

You speak in English

S & N

[Redacted area]

Swallows and nests

You invite him/her together with the whole class

S & N

[Redacted area]

Swallows and nests

You help him/her as much as possible

S & N

[Redacted area]

Swallows and nests

I support the girl

S & N

[Redacted area]

Swallows and nests

You suggest to your teacher to let you sit with the new comer

S & N

[Redacted area]

Swallows and nests

I try to tell them to go away

S & N

[Redacted area]

Swallows and nests

Yes

S & N

[Redacted area]

Swallows and nests

No

S & N

[Redacted area]

Swallows and nests

"I have a dream: one day my children will live in this nation without being judged by the colour of their skin, but by the quality of their character." (Martin Luther King, 1929-1968). Is this a message of love or of fear?

- a. Love
- b. Fear

Swallows and nests

With six bullets nailed to her body, 23-year-old H.S of Turkish origin died alone in a street of Berlin, a snowy night, murdered by her own brothers. This is another "honor crime", one that has become routine in Germany. (P. V., Eleftherotypia, 19/2/2005). In the above text are there elements of racism and prejudice?

- a. Yes
- b. No

Swallows and nests

"Our grandparents refugees, our parents immigrants, we racists?" This is a slogan on a wall. Is there sympathy in it?

- a. Yes
- b. No

Swallows and nests

Communication capacity, empathy, openness, flexibility, tolerance, ability to overcome conflicts, self-reflection. Among these elements of anti-racism are there any that a teacher should have? You can discuss if they remind you of someone.

- a. Yes
- b. No

Swallows and nests

You are at Parliament square in Brussels, and you suddenly listen: "... they blamed these bloody Greeks for the delay....".

Do you recognize a racist comment?

- a. Yes
- b. No

Swallows and nests

I change my attitude towards others and accept their difference when I believe that "People's personal value is related to their".

- a. origin
- b. uniqueness

Swallows and nests

Assume that you are in your father's car, and you are looking for a parking space outside a grocery store. There is no space available except that designated for disabled people. Do you agree to park there for your convenience?

- a. Yes
- b. No

Swallows and nests

There is a video showing a three-member white family and a young black man waiting outside a doctor's office. The mother changes her son's position when the young black man sits next to him. They are called to enter the doctor's room and the doctor introduces the family to the young man: "This is George, the donor of bone marrow for your son". Should we judge by colour or appearance?

- a. Yes
- b. No

Swallows and nests

Yes

S & N

Swallows and nests

Love

S & N

Swallows and nests

uniqueness

S & N

Swallows and nests

Yes

S & N

Swallows and nests

No

S & N

Swallows and nests

No

S & N

Swallows and nests

No

S & N

Swallows and nests

Yes

S & N

