WHY DO I WANT THIS ?

· since i was a little boy I've always have dreamed of becoming one like the all stars in the NBA , i looked up to Kobe Bryant at the time , he was my idol, he made me love the game and one day i would like to be just like him. I made a promise to myself back when i was 14 years old that I'll be just like KOBE.

I want to start off joining local clubs and work on my experience in the game so that i can get the feel of the foot work and chemistry among my teammates .

then I'll plan ahead on what school should i choose to have a bigger chance on getting in the pro leagues , getting in what they call "SPOTS" and very little of them get in.

But the question is, "how am i going to succeed" First I gotta know that I'm not the only one who wants a spot in the top so i got to work harder than other people. Be grinding every single day. join a basketball club and find your weaknesses and work on them, find the way to not have any weaknesses then let yourself be seen by people that might help you be better and if you fail its not the end just keep going! because if you put your blood, sweat and tears in what you love to do you will succeed, because there's an old saying "you hang around the barber long enough sooner or later you'll a haircut" Making the NBA is every basketball player's dream, the odds of this dream are that 3 out of 10,000 high school athletes will fulfill this dream. About 1,200 athletes play Division 1 college basketball each year, with about 50 being drafted out of 60 spots in the NBA Draft. so you got to show whats makes you different. you got to work hard really hard.
